Linda was the kind of person who treated everyone like they were a life-long friend. She was the life of the party, enjoying loud laughter and brought fun to everyone's life she touched.

Her hobbies included stained glass, knitting, collecting antique dollhouse furniture for her antique dollhouse and redecorating rooms in her house with her favorite color purple. She was the only person in the neighborhood with a purple bathtub!

“ I vividly remember the first time I met Linda 40 years ago. She made a very memorable impression. She always made me feel as if I were part of her family and even took me skiing for my first time. My heart goes out to her three lovely daughters. Since Linda and my mom were such good friends, I have always been able to stay up to date about the latest happenings of her life and how everyone was doing. Fortunately I was able to visit with her a few times in person in these past few years. Our last visit she made me feel special because she still recognized me and knew exactly who I was. I was very fond of her and she was always very kind to me. She holds a special place in my heart and every time I see the color purple or Tom Selleck I will always think of her.

“ I worked with Linda for many years at HMC. Foxy was a sweet lady and could be counted on to do her best whatever her assignment was---and being a relief person, that could be any room, any case, any time---not an easy task! She was always upbeat in a sometimes toxic environment. I hope her suffering was minimal and she is at peace, enjoying the purple flower gardens in the sky, prepared just for her! Judy Schrum

“ My best sister -friend took her last breath on June 9, 2018. It so happened it was the same day my husband died one year ago to the day. Forty years ago our friendship blossomed. Several years ago my dearest friend was told she has Dementia/Alzheimer disease. When she could no longer live independently she was admitted to an assisted living facility. Although this disease altered our daily communication, I continued to support and love her unconditionally. I educated myself about this disease and understood what was to come. Our friendship continued to flourish but in a simpler manner. I walked the walk with her as it progressed. She was a high spirited, caring, loving person. I feel honored to have shared a life lasting friendship with her. Her suffering is over. May her family feel the Peace, Love and Joy knowing her soul is in Heaven in the arms of Jesus. My love to you Holly, Heather and Jen. ~Elaine Kaylor~

“ Foxy was always a breath of fresh air. We took our first stained glass classes together and she kept the instructor and other students in stitches! She chose to attend the 2nd annual latex allergy conference in Susan Antonio with me, drove us to the airport in her lavender car. That was 3 days of education, shopping, drinking and just plain fun! Foxy loved and was adept in neurosurgery. I always knew I could count on her for relief in the days when most people were afraid of those surgeons, not Foxy though, she got them laughing too. I think a fitting tribute to Foxy is that Dr Page never kicked her out of his room! That speaks volumes to nurses who worked with him. RIP my dear friend

“ Foxy was a wonderful lady who lit up the room! I enjoyed playing Bunco with her for two years. She was a joy to know. Full of love and laughter. Heaven gained an angel in her. Peace, love and prayers for her family. Rest easy Foxy.
