“ I worked with Art for many years. Most recently as his Supervisor.. I considered Art a very respectful individual. He worked well with those who interacted with him. Art was always a willing employee and would do things for anyone that asked with no complaints.. One thing about Art I always will remember as well as others is that when he knew of a coworker's birthday he always would offer to buy that individual a drink.. He will be truly missed... My thoughts and prayers are with the family during this sad time.
