“ Mr. Engle was a customer of ours in the garden center of JB Hostetter's. He was always a lot of fun, with jokes and insightful remarks. We had many conversations about strawberries and blueberries! An avid gardener, he was interested in all sorts of plants and was concerned about the environment. He gave away most of the fruits and vegetables he grew, wanting to bless others with the results of his hobby. We will really miss him, particularly when the growing season begins!

“ My name is Rob Tanner. My mother lives next door at 94 Ridgewood Manor. I only knew Gilbert for a few months but I was very glad to know him. He helped me plant a garden for my mother and gladly shared the fruits (literally - the best yellow tomatoes I had ever eaten!) of garden. He had lots of Habanero peppers and so I assumed he loved hot peppers like I do. When he handed back the handful of Poblano's (a rather mild, smokey-flavored pepper) that I given him after claiming "I don't know what your definition of hot is - but these are too hot!", I knew he grew the Habanero's only to add color to his garden. To Gilbert's family, I am deeply sorry for your loss.

“ To all of Gil's family, Even though I only knew Gil for a short time, he was a character. He made me laugh. Gil would visit me on my porch and bring along veggies and sometime wine, and we would talk and talk some more. I loved listened to him. Gil was a good man, a good friend to me. I will never forget him
