“ I was lucky enough to meet Jenn 2 yrs ago when she started dating my brother, Zachary Rodrick, it took her awhile to come out of her shell, but the last 6 mos I've gotten to know the real Jenn, she was A sweet Soul, a kindred spirit, I felt connected to her instantly when we started talking, we enjoyed the same things, liked Alot of the same things she knew so much about Jesus and we would talk about him and the Bible, she was a Great artist and crafter, I'd just sit n watch her and we would talk!!! I'm really going to miss her when I'm there!!! God Bless her soul!!! And I'm sorry and God Bless the entire family!!! And Many Prayers for my brother Zachary!!! 🙏

“ Rachel and family: You are in my thoughts and prayers. Although our situations were someone what different, I know the loss of a sister. If I knew your sister's favorite color, I would have lit that color of candle in her honor and memory. My sister loved candles and my favor color is purple so chose the periwinkle candle. Jackie

While I didn't personally know your beautiful daughter, please know that my heart goes out to you and your family. If you haven't dealt with addiction, you cannot judge and you cannot fully understand. While to say she is now in peace seems trite, it's true. I will pray for her family and friends. God Bless you all. Patricia H

Glad to see she's made it through the gates. Hold it down up there until your boy arrives.
