“ As a Kid I had an old Harley and hung around, Mr Nentwig and I had become friends and he showed me his vast collection of motorcycles. I remember an old Indian with the suicide shifter. Although he didn't say much at the time, we could still communicate and share our love of motorcycles. I still drive down south prince and think about his old shop down there. The city's changed. Although we fell out of touch i always held him in high regard. Will be praying for the family. God bless you all. - Ben Davis
