“ Who ever said that sometimes the words are hard to come by. That's what many of us are experiencing right now. Loosing a close friend, child, spouse, sibling, or parent, can be the worst thing ever. I knew Chel for 48 years. All were pleasant, forgiving and caring years when we spoke, on her part. She was a faith filled fighter. We can all take that as a gift from her. She certainly was full of that gift from God.I know that she is in the presence of our Lord Jesus now. They both smile! Can you picture that?Love you Chel
