After their youngest child started school, Millie then worked fulltime at the diner as well as helping with their many caterings. When the restaurant closed, she worked briefly at the Donegal High School cafeteria and then finished her cafeteria career at Masonic Village and retired after nineteen and a half years in 2006. Together with her husband, they also ran Mummau's Bed & Bath for a number of years. Millie was a loyal member of the Elizabethtown Alliance Church where she was an active member of the Young at Heart group. She faithfully volunteered with the stamp ministry as well as folding the bulletins. She and her husband also volunteered at various church functions in helping with food preparations. In her widowhood, she enjoyed a low-key retirement staying at home with her little dog and cat. Millie always had an open door and an available phone to her children, grandchildren, great grandchildren, and her family and friends. She was an avid reader; she loved puzzles, cooking, and gardening.
