“ Steve was a mentor in my life as well as a true best friend. He didn't like a lot of people and if you knew him, you understood that. He was an influential man in my life and we shared memories traveling and hanging out with other friends. He was generous beyond belief. He loved being around people. His health was dwindling and he was the last person to burden anyone. I miss you, Steve. My family and I really do. Love you man.

“ Steve was a good guy. I knew him since elementary school. Got to chat with him quite a few times over the years, at the store and elsewhere. He was good at what he did, and was always happy to talk about Vette's. Bon Voyage Steve.
