“ What a joy it was to have known this special lady. There was a unique connection that we had with her. We now live on the land where she grew up in Bourbon County, Kentucky. Because of that, we shared a special bond which led to a friendship with her son, Jim and her great grandson, Andrew. The stories she told and the pictures she left us of her time on the farm will be treasured. Truly thankful that our lives crossed paths. She'll be missed.
